AT A GLANCE

Bundox Explorer Camp is an eco-luxury tented camp that promotes a low-impact, immersive safari experience in the Greater Kruger Park. Located in the Balule Private Nature Reserve, this Big Five private concession is where guests will enjoy game drives through rugged Lowveld terrain and along the Olifants River.

The boma is a truly South African experience, where the focus is on laughter, listening to the sounds of the wild, and watching the fire crackle into the night.

The camp is in an intimate setting and has only a couple of staff members who run the show, from guiding to cooking and maintenance. The layout is intended to suit small groups, couples, exclusive use or solo travellers who would enjoy a personal experience in close comfort with nature.

OUR ACCOMMODATION

The tents are positioned individually amongst the trees and bushes on the property, making them secluded and truly in nature.

The accommodation at Bundox is perfect for long stays and short visits.

There are four cottage-style, free-standing tents, each containing an en-suite bathroom with flushing toilets, cold tap showers, and bucket showers are filled on demand with hot water.

LOCATION

Bundox Explorer is located in the Balule Nature Reserve, which is home to Africa's Big 5. The reserve also boasts a wide variety of fauna and flora, interesting topography and beautiful vistas.

The Balule Nature Reserve forms part of the nearly 3.5 million-hectare Greater Kruger National Park, which one of Africa's few remaining natural ecologies.

Don't be surprised if you hear the whoop of hyenas, the lion's contact calling, and the gentle sounds of nature while you're relaxing in your room at night.
