

How to get involved with

There are a variety of ways to get involved and have fun learning while supporting important conservation and community initiatives.

Membership

There are numerous membership options that you can join which cater towards your needs. Memberships are on offer for all ages and each gives you access to AWESOME content.

By joining the TEP family you are helping support great organisations, and while supporting them you get to delve deep into the work they do.

Learn

The Expedition Project has an amazing online learning platform. These courses are designed in collaboration with some of the organisations who have partnered with TEP.

These courses touch on different topics from conservation, wildlife veterinary and biomimicry to fynbos, the rocky shores and marine life, and so much more.

Travel

Join TEP on an exciting adventure across South Africa, experiencing its beauty. Along the way you will stop off at various conservation and community driven organisations.

You can cater your adventure to what you are interested in, whether it is conservation, communities or to explore more of the stunning South African coastline.

Shop

Visit the Expedition Project online Eco-shop which has environmentally friendly products, including biodegradable cell phone cases, reusable tote bags, and stainless steel water bottles and clothing.

While having fun shopping the eco-range you have the opportunity to select your favourite TEP organisation to receive a donation from your purchase.
